1 Proposal to host the PCE2018 by the Danish local host: IPCOPT

In the following, a proposal to host the PCE2018 will be presented by the Danish local host, member of WAPCEPC:

Institut for Personcentreret og Oplevelsesorienteret Psykoterapi (IPCOPT)

Dear members of the board of WAPCEPC

Institut for Personcentreret og oplevelsesorienteret psykoterapi (IPCOPT) invites the World Association for Person Centered and Experiential Psychotherapy and Counseling (WAPCEPC) to arrange the PCE conference 2018 in Copenhagen, Denmark.

By placing PCE2018 in Copenhagen we hope to support the continuous development of PCE not only in Denmark but also Norway and Sweden, where PCE is not practiced so much yet as in many other countries around us. At the moment we see a growing interest for PCE both at the level of clients, practitioners, employers and universities. PCE2018 in Copenhagen with a Scandinavian organizing committee could help establish further interest and organizational foundation for PCE therapists in Scandinavia.

Copenhagen is known as a warm and friendly city with many cultural events and concerns for environment. The delegates will find themselves in a city by the sea which offers excellent infrastructure, a rich history and architecture, and excellent facilities for congresses and accommodation.

IPCOPT will work together with several professional and organizational partners and volunteers to create the most enriching and enjoyable conference possible. The organizing committee has the capacity to address administrative, financial, publicity and cross-cultural aspects of the conference. We aim at making the conference experience easy and enjoyable for the participants by placing the venue in one location, to have a simple effective layout of the conference program that makes it easy to find your way around, applying a conference-app for smart phones and tablets and making video recordings available of the top-end key-note speakers on the conference topic: Process: Therapeutic Change in Emotion, Person and Groups.

The local organizing committee is sincerely looking forward to welcoming you to Copenhagen in 2018.

Kind regards,

Niels Bagge

1.1 Proposed dates for PCE2018

Wednesday 4th of July 2018 – Sunday 8th of July 2018

Opening reception at the Copenhagen City Hall: Wednesday 4th of July 2018

1.2 Conference Theme

Our proposal for the conference theme is:

Process: Therapeutic Change in Emotion, Person and Group

Process is a concept that is found in Carl Rogers writings on the fully functioning person as a process and "A Process Conception of Psychotherapy, in Eugene Gendlins process model and in Greenberg, Elliott and Rice's process-experiential psychotherapy, now known as Emotion-Focused Therapy. It should therefore be of interest to all the "tribes" of WAPCEPC

We like to invite participants of the conference to share research, observations, reflections and experiences on the process of therapeutic change, be it through therapeutic process changes studies or case-observations of moment-to-moment changes in emotions; on the process of psychological growth, personality change and emotional transformations; on development of therapist skills and relational capacities through training, supervision and personal work; and finally in the changes and process's found in groups as they evolve be it the family group, work related groups or our group in the PCE-community.

1.3 Scientific Program

The scientific program will be decided by the scientific committee of the conference. We plan to include lectures, papers, posters, panels, workshops and encounter-groups. We have appointed 3 internationally scientifically acknowledged members to be our Scientific Committee coordinators. Together with representative from WAPCEPC they will find rest of the members of the Scientific Committee and coordinate the work of organizing the scientific program of the PCE2018 conference.

Expression of support for PCE Conference 2018

Dear Board of WAPCEPC,

I am delighted to learn that you are considering Copenhagen as host of the PCE Conference in 2018. It's indeed a prestigious and influential event, which will bring substantial economic, scientific and business benefits to the Capital of Denmark.

In my capacity as Lord Mayor of Copenhagen I hereby wish to assure you of my wholehearted support for this bid.

In recent decades, Copenhagen has developed into a very attractive, international metropolis known for its openness, efficient infrastructure and safe, clean environment.

Within the field of Person Centered and Experiential Psychotherapy Copenhagen holds a strong international position which will add valuable knowledge and know-how to the congress programme as well as encourage networking, industry matchmaking and collaboration to the benefit of the congress participants.

I'm certain every effort will be made to ensure that WAPCEPC has an extremely successful and enjoyable congress here. I am sure that Copenhagen would be an excellent host for the members of your organization and I hope and trusts that you will reach a decision in favour of Copenhagen's candidacy.

As an expression of our hospitality, I would be pleased to welcome the delegates of the PCE Conference to Copenhagen City Hall for a warm and friendly complimentary reception during the congress.

Yours Sincerely

Frank Jensen

LETTER OF SUPPORT

The Danish Psychotherapeutic Society for Psychologists (DPSP) hereby expresses its full support and endorsement for placing the PCE 2018 Conference in Copenhagen, Denmark.

DPSP is a Society by The Danish Psychological Association and has close to 1700 Danish psychologists as members. The purpose of DPSP is to elevate the quality of psychotherapy, strengthen psychologists professionalism, theoretical foundation and professional identity and network.

This is done by political activities, organization of theoretical and practical programs, international seminars etc.

Placing PCE2018 in Copenhagen would be a rich opportunity for Danish psychologists practicing psychotherapy for bringing themselves up to date with PCE-therapies in practice, theory and science.

Having PCE2018 in Copenhagen will raise the growing interest in PCE-therapies that we are witnessing in Denmark. We believe the timing is right for having a PCE-conference in Denmark and for Danish psychologists practicing psychotherapy to add to their repertoire and view on psychotherapy.

Copenhagen is a wonderful capital city to host your conference. It is a safe city, with lots of opportunities for social, cultural and professional activities. In summer Copenhagen is most beautiful with its location at the sea and with many historic and atmospheric places for a relaxed stay outside the conference. As a conference city Copenhagen in our experience offers excellent services and professional management including technical solutions.

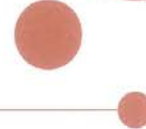

We will be looking very much forward to having PCE2018 in Copenhagen and welcome you all to Copenhagen.

Having PCE2018 in Copenhagen will bring attention to the person centered and experiential tradition of psychotherapy among psychology students as well as the academic staff. We consider person centered and experiential psychotherapy and counseling as an important psychotherapy tradition, and by attending the conference and offering papers and presentations the department and its students would have an excellent chance to strengthen their expertise within this tradition. Therefore, if PCE2018 is placed in Copenhagen, Center for Psychotherapy Research will be happy to provide advice and support within our capacities for the organizers.

The Center for Psychotherapy Research is hosting the 2014 conference for Society for Psychotherapy Research (SPR) with an estimated 700 participants. In our experience, Copenhagen will attract many attendants from all over the world. Copenhagen is a wonderful and international capital with excellent facilities for conferences. It is easy to get around and one of the safest cities in the world. It is beautifully located by the sea, offers rich history, beautiful architecture and modern Danish design.

Center for Psychotherapy Research will be looking forward to PCE2018 in Copenhagen and warmly welcomes all attendants to Copenhagen.

Welcoming the PCE Conference to Copenhagen in 2018

Dear board members of WAPCEPC,

On behalf of Wonderful Copenhagen and our industry partners, I would like to offer my full support for Copenhagen's bid to host the the PCE Conference in 2018.

As one of the most popular convention cities in the world, Copenhagen has considerable expertise and experience in hosting high profile events. Therefore we are fully aware of the responsibility involved in hosting the PCE Conference.

As the official convention bureau, Wonderful Copenhagen offers an array of free-of-charge services for event organizers. Among other things, this includes professional guidance and advice in planning your international convention.

We are also pleased to act as the neutral liaison between you and the meeting industry suppliers in Copenhagen. Our meeting industry is well organized and is praised globally for its unique and professional teamwork. In Copenhagen, the entire city will be your host, providing the best possible framework for the PCE Conference in 2018.

In Copenhagen, congress delegates enjoy the benefits of Scandinavian design, functionality, innovation and professionalism including every conceivable variety of modern technology.

Copenhagen offer state-of-the-art venues and hotels in a compact and walkable waterfront city where urban trends flourish alongside culture, traditions and history. And we have an unparalleled track record in sustainable event management with close to two-thirds of all hotel rooms and the majority of our conference venues being eco-certified.

I hereby wish to assure you that we will make every possible effort to meet your requirements and expectations, making PCE Conference in Copenhagen an outstanding and memorable success.

We look forward to welcoming you in Copenhagen.

Yours sincerely,

Lars Bernhard Jørgensen
Managing Director

Wonderful Copenhagen CVB is the official convention and visitors bureau of Copenhagen, dealing with all aspects of Copenhagen as a leisure, event and business destination.

2 Why Copenhagen

Experience our pulsating metropolitan capital where fashion and tradition go hand in hand with a safe, efficient, yet exciting environment offering modern meeting facilities, luxury hotels and a plethora of things to see and do.

With a population of 1.9 million, Copenhagen is the largest city in Scandinavia. Though smaller than many other Northern European cities, the Danish capital has proven itself more than able to organise successful large-scale events in innovative and appealing settings.

In fact, Copenhagen is ranked as one of the world's most popular convention cities, due to its easy accessibility, high levels of efficiency and low crime rate, among other factors. The city is located in the heart of a major knowledge centre and, in recent years, its range of hotels and meetings venues has grown exponentially.

But that's not all. This is a city which effortlessly combines old and new, preserving its 1,000-year history yet always looking to the future. We are equally skilled at combining business with pleasure - did you know, for example, that Copenhagen is ranked as the World's most Livable City?

Close at hand

Copenhagen Airport is Scandinavia's main traffic hub with non-stop flights from around 140 destinations. And, once you've landed, the city centre is only 13 minutes away by Metro or train.

You soon discover that the Danish capital is compact and easy to navigate. With the majority of hotels, venues, sights and attractions within walking distance of each other, you can spend your time making the most of them all.

Copenhagen is easy to explore on foot, but it also has one of the world's best transport infrastructures – the Mercer City Infrastructure Index rated Copenhagen number 4.

...and the living is easy...

According to a number of international surveys the Danes are among the “The World’s Happiest People”.

This is certainly endorsed by the top10 ranking in the Mercer Quality of Living Index and by Monocle Magazine, which ranks Copenhagen the “World’s Most Livable City”.

Safety, tolerance, green initiatives, international connectivity, creative environment, a relaxed lifestyle, cycle culture, democratic design and the active use of city spaces are among the key reasons why Copenhagen is, once again, the world's best city according to British lifestyle magazine, Monocle.

Do you speak English – YES!

Speaking of the Danes, we are highly skilled in foreign languages, and were recently named best non-native English speakers in the world by the European Commission.

As Danish is only spoken by around 5.5 million people (in other words, just us), in this globalised world it has long been necessary for us to know other languages. Thus, 86% of the workforce speaks English, but it’s also quite common for Danes to know German (47 %), French, Spanish and other languages too.

These high language skills make everyday communication easier for your delegates, but also make dealing with all the suppliers to the meetings industry so much more convenient.

Play it safe – and clean

If delegate safety is an important factor, Copenhagen is a very safe choice. Because the locals walk and cycle in the city around the clock, Copenhagen has a welcoming and open atmosphere.

The Global Peace Index rates Denmark as one of the world’s most peaceful countries and, once again in 2013, Transparency International named Denmark the world’s least corrupt country.

Copenhagen is not only friendly - it’s also clean. The users of TripAdvisor have voted Copenhagen Europe’s cleanest city. And, believe it or not: the water in the city's inner harbour is so clean that you can swim in it in specially-designed outdoor harbour pools. There's one just around the corner from the City Hall.

ECopenhagen

Before taking a dip in the harbour pool you might care to know that Copenhagen has won the European Green Capital Award for 2014 (European Environment Commission). And this environmental awareness extends to the meetings industry. In Copenhagen we are experts in sustainable meetings.

In 2009, Copenhagen hosted the world's first eco-certified international summit, the United Nations Climate Change Conference (COP15), with more than 30,000 delegates; and in 2012 we hosted the most environmentally sustainable Presidency of the European Union.

Thus, Copenhagen's meetings industry has extensive experience with sustainable solutions, and as much as 71% of the city's hotel rooms hold a green certification. This makes it easy and convenient to hold an environmentally sustainable meeting in the Danish capital.

Brains trust

Copenhagen is located in a region with 10 universities, 165,000 students and 16,000 scientists and researchers, making it quite likely that you will be able to locate a key-note speaker close by. In 2013 INSEAD ranked Denmark 3d in the Global Talent Competitiveness Index measuring a nation's competitiveness based on the quality of talent it can produce, attract and retain.

With a long tradition for compulsory free schooling and free universities we are among the world's most highly educated people. This tradition for education has also had a positive impact on the meetings industry, which offers much more than merely logistical solutions.

In fact, many hotels, venues and PCOs adhere to the Danish meeting concept, Meetovation, which aims to enhance the professionalism of events through close dialogue between meeting planners and suppliers via a carefully tested model.

Pull up a chair, and relax

In recent years Copenhagen has also earned quite a reputation as a gastronomic capital. The city boasts 15 Michelin stars, and the UK's Restaurant Magazine ranked Copenhagen restaurant, Noma, the World's Best in 2010, 2011 and 2012.

New Nordic Cuisine, which emphasises seasonal and regional ingredients, was pioneered at Noma. Today, this environmentally-friendly cuisine is served in a number of restaurants in the city, including Geranium, where the winner of the 2011 world championship for chefs, the Bocuse d'Or, runs a 100% organic gourmet restaurant.

Its wealth of dining options means that Copenhagen has high quality restaurants to accommodate all pockets, tastes and cuisines.

Take to the water

Water plays a central role in Copenhagen and, even if you have a tight schedule, you can still take to the waves by hiring a boat to transfer between venues, or hold your meeting in one of the many venues with a sea view.

If you have some spare time, sandy beaches, sailing and all manner of water sports are to be found either in or close to the city, as are international standard golf courses, parks and woods.

You can also cross the bridge over the Øresund to neighboring Sweden's third largest city, Malmö. It's just half an hour away, making it easy to experience two Scandinavian countries in one trip.

The little extras

Before, during and after long days filled with sessions or lectures why not sample one of Copenhagen's many attractions? Stroll through the historic city centre and browse Copenhagen's unique shops.

Enjoy a guided boat tour of the city's 17th century canals, or visit one of its many art museums; the historic amusement park Tivoli Gardens; or the dazzling, contemporary Opera House, to mention a few of the pleasures in a city which is also home to the world's oldest monarchy.

Have a drink and experience Copenhagen's energetic bars and nightlife, featuring numerous world class jazz and contemporary music venues. Or, do like the Copenhageners: hop on a bike to get some exercise, or simply to get around easily, in this welcoming and open city.

3 Accessibility and Getting Around

Copenhagen is easy to get to and easy to get around. The International Airport is situated only eight kilometers outside of Copenhagen city center and is the busiest airport in Scandinavia.

Copenhagen Airport is the largest airport in Scandinavia. With non-stop flights from around 140 international destinations, the city is easy to access from all continents. All the major European cities are within a one or two hour flight.

The city centre is only 13 minutes away by Metro or train. This is the fastest transfer time from airport to city centre among major European cities. It is one of the most affordable too – a full fare ticket costs only between €3.50-€5.

Copenhagen has one of the world's best transport infrastructures and, unlike many other European capitals, there are very few traffic problems - guaranteeing minimal journey times in and around the city.

With multiple bus lines, a Metro, a local train network and harbour busses, the city's public transport is convenient and safe. An integrated ticket system makes it easy to travel by different forms of transport using the same ticket.

For international conventions and events you can choose discounted Copenhagen Travel Passes. The travel Pass can be used as often as necessary within the valid period and travel zones, day and night in bus, train and metro.

Showing a clean pair of heels

Scandinavian Airlines (SAS) is Copenhagen Airport's largest airline. SAS is renowned for its Scandinavian-style efficiency. It has been named Europe's Most Punctual Airline (FlightStats 2011), and was the world's first airline to receive IATA Fast Travel Award platinum status in 2013 and again in 2014. If you prefer to fly with a clear environmental conscience, SAS offers a carbon offset programme for events, and holds a number of international eco-certificates including ISO 14001.

SAS was also the world's first airline to introduce fuel-saving 'green landings', which underscores Copenhagen Airport's ongoing work to minimise airlines' impact on the environment.

There is no place like home

If you want to do some shopping before you leave, Copenhagen Airport offers a wide selection of both Danish and international brand stores, including a number of Tax Free options for passengers travelling outside the European Union.

It's nice to travel, but once you are heading home delayed flights can taint the memory of a great trip. In 2011, Copenhagen airport was named Most Punctual Airport in Europe (SkyTrax 2011), so your take-off is unlikely to cause you any delay.

If you are travelling within Europe and would like to avoid take offs and landings altogether, you can instead choose one of the many efficient rail connections linking Copenhagen to most major cities in Europe. The fixed link to Sweden also offers easy access from all of Scandinavia.

Hit the road – or the waves?

Busses in Copenhagen are plentiful and run frequently, and as part of the city's green strategy, Copenhagen recently replaced two large city busses with electric busses. In fact, the city already operates a number of small electric city busses and hybrid busses on some routes.

Copenhagen also offers an extensive local train system (the S-train) which connects the city centre with its suburbs, along with harbour busses serving the inner harbour and adjacent city districts.

On four wheels

Copenhagen taxis are comfortable and clean, and in 2013 users of Hotels.com named them best in Scandinavia.

You can easily hail a taxi on the street, and most accept all major credit cards. All taxis are clearly licensed and operate at fixed mileage rates.

If you want to rent a car, there are several international companies with offices in the city centre and at the airport. If you prefer to drive with a clear environmental conscience, Sixt offers electric cars for hire.

On two wheels

If you prefer to experience the city the Copenhagen way, you should get on a bicycle. Copenhageners love to cycle; 52% of the population commute by bike every day.

The city has an extensive and well-functioning bicycle infrastructure with 400 kilometers of bicycle lanes.

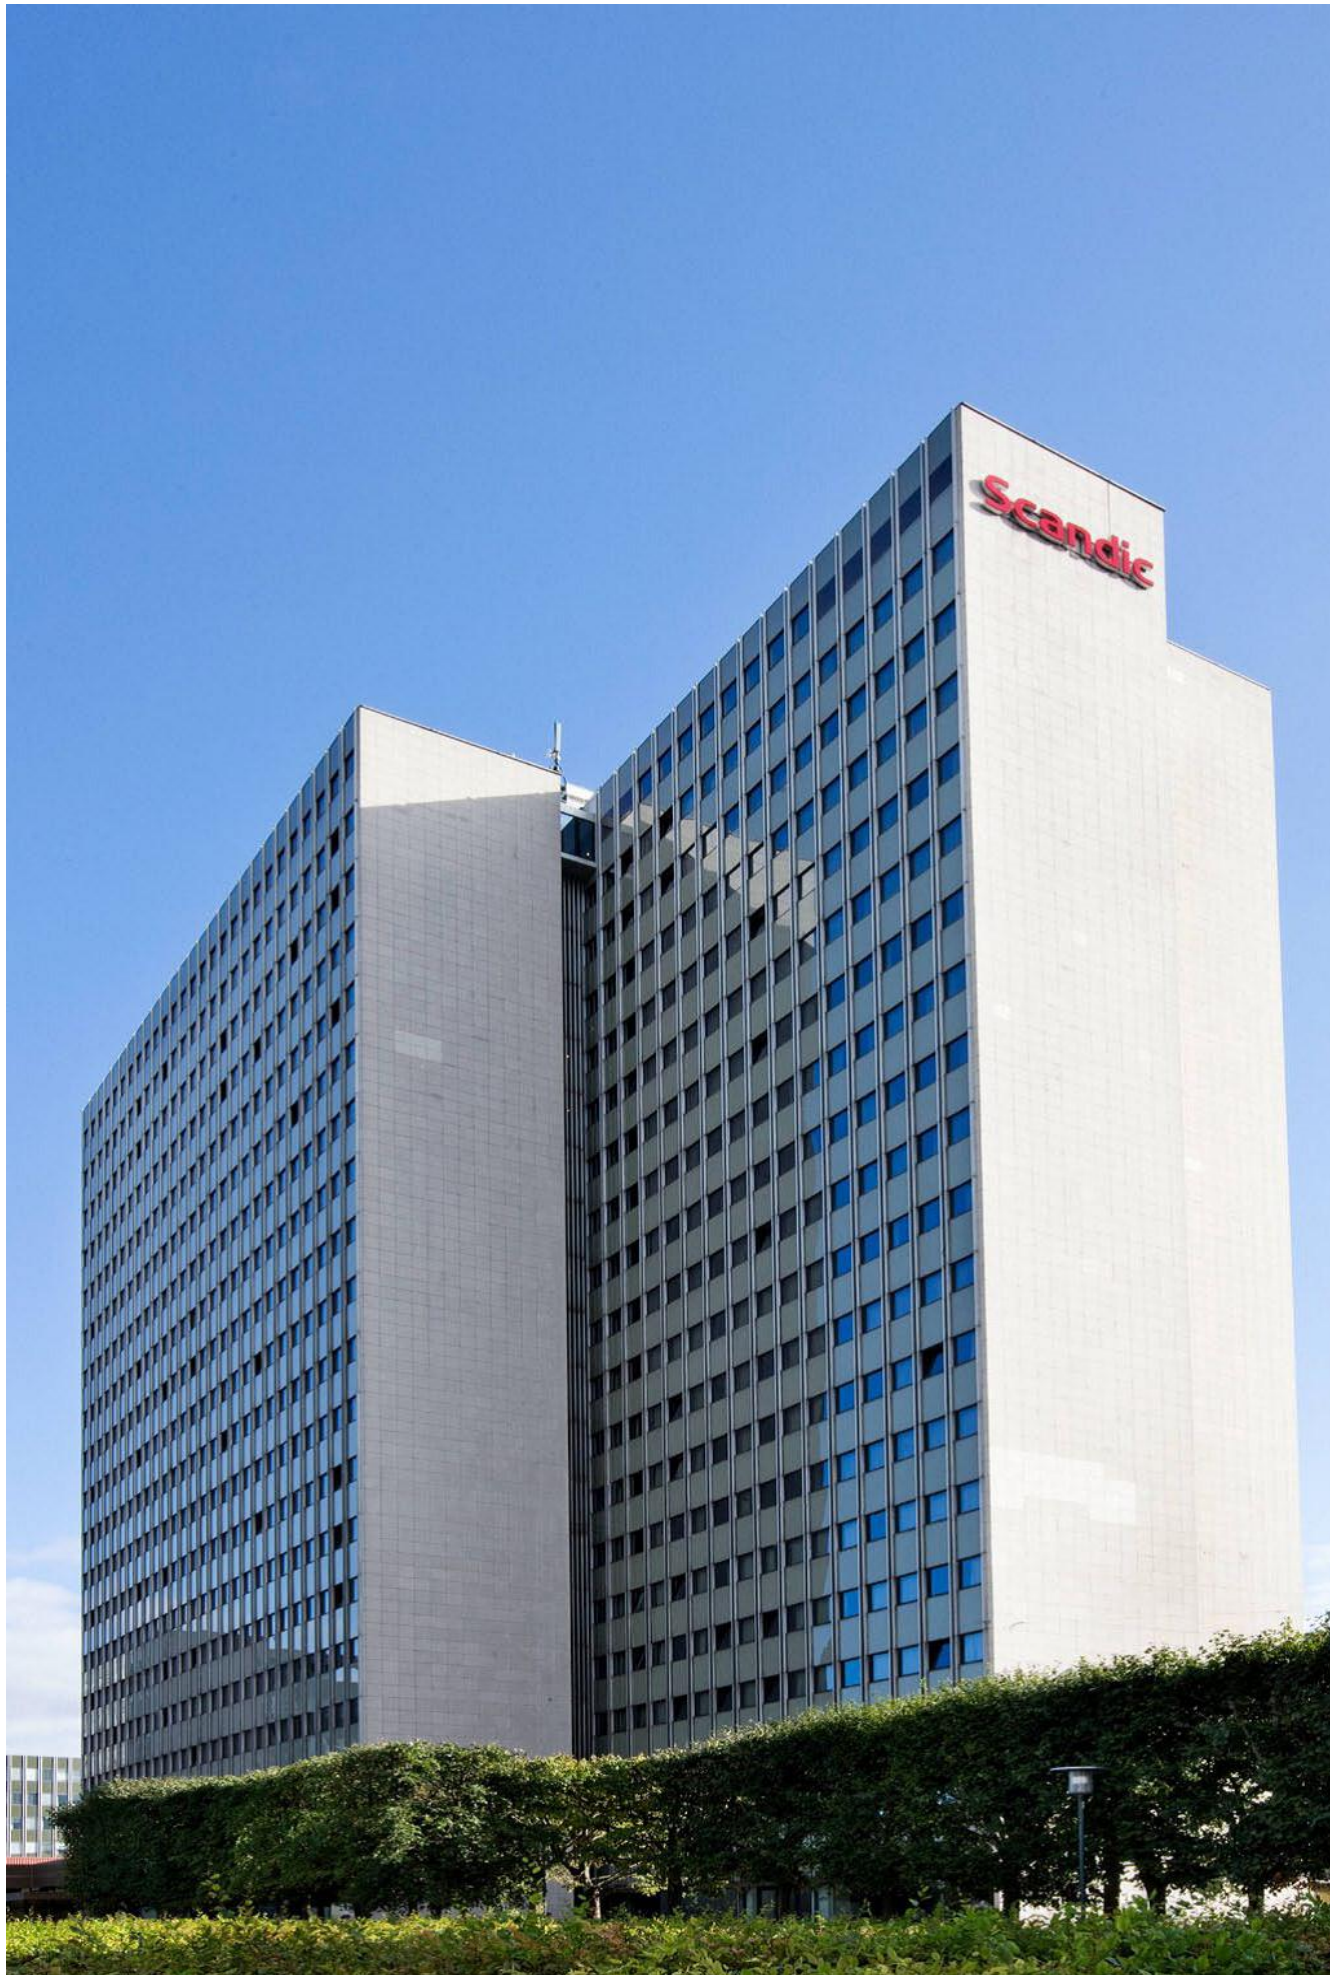

It is easy to get hold of a bike. Most bike shops and hotels offer bikes for rent, some hotels even lend bikes to their guests for free.

On the right foot

Thanks to its compact scale, Copenhagen is a true pedestrian paradise, and it is safe to walk around even at night. In fact, Copenhagen was voted “Most Walkable City” in 2013 (Walk21).

The pedestrian shopping street, Strøget, is the world's oldest and longest pedestrian zone. If you aren't tempted to stop at the many shops and cafes along its length, you can also just use Strøget to cross the city centre in less than half an hour.

4 Proposed Congress Venue: Scandic Copenhagen

From above: Looking for a fully modernised, eco-certified combined hotel and conference venue with capacity for 1,100 delegates? Then the city centre venue Scandic Copenhagen might be just the place.

Scandic Copenhagen is a 4-star hotel located beside 'Søerne', the three lakes which provide Copenhageners and guests with a recreational area close to the city's prime attractions, its Central Station and its main shopping district.

The hotel has 486 well-equipped rooms offering Scandinavian comfort, magnificent views of Copenhagen, a top floor created for guests who expect that little extra, and 1,500m² of flexible conference and meeting facilities.

As well as the Grand Ballroom, which seats up to 1,100 delegates, there are 16 meeting rooms - 11 of them seating over 60 people - all with free wireless internet access and the latest AV-equipment.

Down to the green

Scandic Copenhagen has a comprehensive environmental policy and is certified with the Nordic eco-label, the Swan. As with every other Scandic hotel, it works on sustainability issues from both a global and a local perspective.

The hotel even has a dedicated team member with responsibility for the environment and, in 2011, Scandic was awarded the Nordic Council Nature and Environmental prize for its efforts in promoting sustainable tourism.

The hotel's restaurant also takes environmental issues into consideration by offering a great selection of organic food. Enjoy the healthy and delicious meeting food concept created in collaboration with the British star chef Jamie Oliver.

5 Accommodation

Something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue... and loads of green! There are types of accommodation to fit all these categories in the Danish capital...

Copenhagen's hotel capacity has expanded by more than 50% in the last 10 years which means the city now has around 21,000 rooms to meet every imaginable demand, pocket and taste.

Meanwhile, within a one-and-a-half hour drive of Copenhagen, you can find a total selection of 31,000 rooms, making it easy to host conventions of any size.

Copenhagen offers a wide range of international hotel chains, such as Hilton, Marriot and Rezidor as well as a number of Danish, family-owned chains, featuring hotels in all categories.

Inside, a number of new hotels in Copenhagen are designed in a contemporary Scandinavian style, typified by clean surfaces and simplicity, combined with functionality and clever use of daylight. Several are furnished with Danish furniture classics from the 1930s onwards.

Copenhagen is located by the sea and no matter what kind of hotel you prefer, you will most likely be able to find a room with a view of the water.

Some hotels even have their own dock, or one close by, which means that guests can sail from their hotel to their meeting venues, or dinner and social events.

Since many of the main sights in Copenhagen can also be seen from the water, boat transfers also give you the opportunity to combine transport with sightseeing.

In Copenhagen it is easy to be eco friendly. If you want to sleep with a clear environmental conscience a remarkable 71 % of its hotel rooms are certified with an eco-label.

Eco-label certification guarantees that hotels meet the highest environmental requirements when it comes to waste management, the use of water and electricity, green policy, education, and communication.

Copenhagen is a compact city and it is easy and quick for delegates to walk from their hotel to major attractions, meaning that they can be environmentally friendly but, at the same time, won't be wasting precious time on transportation.

We would be pleased to take hotel allotments for all delegates, should Copenhagen be chosen as destination for the PCE2018.

The fixed link to Sweden nearby means that over 31,000 hotel rooms are available within a radius of no more than 1.5 hours' drive from Copenhagen

According to Hotels.com, Copenhagen is the most affordable hotel capital in Scandinavia (Survey comparing 2010 figures with 2009 figures)

No less than 71 % of the city's hotel rooms are currently certified with an international eco-label

Copenhagen has extended its hotel portfolio by more than 50% over the last decade and new hotel rooms will open in the future:

- Wakeup Copenhagen Borgergade, a low budget hotel with 498 trendy & modern rooms, opens summer 2014 in the city center
- CABINN Metro Hotel will expand with 290 new rooms
- A new Tivoli Hotel will open in 2016 with 288 rooms, which will form an integral part of the existing Tivoli Hotel & Congress Center. Following the extension, the overall congress complex will offer a total of 1,210 rooms.

The majority of the city's hotels offer free wireless high speed Internet access, while Internet access can be purchased at the majority of other hotels

A great number of hotels offer allergy and/or disabled-friendly rooms

Apart from speaking Danish, hotel employees - and the locals in general - also speak good English. Most of them speak other languages too

Copenhagen also offers a wide range of budget accommodation, including B&Bs, hostels and low budget hotels

6 Accommodation for Physically Challenged Individuals

More and more hotels are starting to accommodate physically challenged individuals in much the same way that Denmark takes responsibility for and help to create a more ecologically and ethically sustainable society. It is only natural that we should offer a hotel environment that is accessible for all.

The forerunner amongst the Copenhagen hotels is the Scandic Hotel chain. As part of their accessibility work, in consultation with disabled organisations, hotel guests and staff, they have drawn up a 93-point checklist which they call Scandic's accessibility standard. 77 of the 93 points are compulsory. A few of them are:

- Hearing loop in the reception
 - Vibrating alarm clock and fire alarm (SafeWake)
 - Walking stick holder at the reception desk
 - Breakfast buffet with no garnish to cause allergic reactions
 - Gluten- and lactose-free bread at breakfast
 - Meeting rooms without carpets
 - Single-grip mixer tap in the bathroom
 - Shower stool in disabled rooms and available for other rooms from the reception
- Scandics mission is to offer at least 10% disabled rooms in most of their hotels in the years to come.

The Bella Sky Comwell Hotel Copenhagen has no less than 45 rooms accommodating physically challenged individuals. 7 of the rooms are completely furnished for wheel chair users with the required space and bathroom facilities. 38 rooms are for individuals with reduced mobility that travel on their own. All public areas have as well been designed to take physically challenged individuals into consideration.

For a full overview of the total number of disabled rooms available for the , please see the hotel allotment.

7 Proposed social and cultural program

Let us entertain you: Striking Danish design, historic royal settings, top class restaurants, contemporary urban-industrial spaces, or multi-function halls – find your personal favourite among the wide selection of venues for dinner, parties and receptions in this special selection.

Copenhagen is a vibrant modern metropolis, whose history sits side-by-side with the latest trends in architecture, design, fashion and gastronomy - historic buildings in elegant harmony with unique and modern design. So, there's no need to settle for less than the perfect place when looking for a venue for your social event.

The selection is so varied that you should be able to find just the right setting, whether you prefer a modern art museum, an idyllic inn, a beautiful castle, a historic manor, or a cosy hotel. For the delegates of the PCE2018, we suggest the following:

7.1 Welcome reception Wednesday the 4th of July 2018 at Rådhuset (Copenhagen City Hall)

We are proud to offer the PCE delegates a welcome reception at the historic Assembly Hall at the Copenhagen City Hall on Wednesday the 4th July 2018. Here, all the delegates will have the chance to meet, to taste the traditional “town hall pancakes” and to enjoy a drink together before the welcome lecture.

The Copenhagen City Hall (Rådhuset) is a majestic public building located in the very centre of Copenhagen. Rådhuset was completed in 1905 and its architect, Martin Nyrop, blended a Nordic Renaissance style with inspiration from the town hall in Siena, Italy.

Rådhuset is one of the city's most prestigious venues; its decor tells the story of Copenhagen's 1,000-year-old history. The beautiful ballroom on the first floor, where the walls are decorated with ancient coats of arms, can be used for receptions for up to 600 people. In the heart of the building is the main hall which is 44 metres long and 24 metres wide, with 19 metres to the glass ceiling, giving the room plenty of natural daylight.

7.2 Suggestions for Social Evening program

Tivoli (Tivoli Gardens)

Currently, the plans of the Organizing Committee for the Social Evening on Saturday the 7th of July 2018 is to visit Tivoli Gardens.

Founded in 1843, Tivoli is one of the world's oldest amusement parks, although with its magic atmosphere and a unique location in the very heart of Copenhagen, Tivoli is much more than just an amusement park.

A stroll through Tivoli takes you to a world of flowered gardens, coloured lights and entertainment galore. Apart from boasting a concert hall, meeting facilities, a theatre and a number of chamber séparés, Tivoli can simultaneously seat 5000 for dinner when using all restaurants and venues.

Here, we will have plenty of time to enjoy a social dinner, and afterwards to experience the extraordinary and beautiful Gardens at night. It is a bewitching location with thousands of coloured LED-lights, amusements and other pleasures.

Capacity, receptions: 1200 (one venue)

Capacity, dinner: 360 (one venue)

The National Museum of Denmark

The National Museum of Denmark is located in the centre of Copenhagen between the Tivoli Gardens and Christiansborg Palace, home to the Danish Parliament.

Built in 1744 it was originally meant as residence to the crown prince Frederik V but today it is Denmark's largest museum of cultural history. It covers 14,000 years of Danish history and contains also exhibits from around the world.

Conferences, banquets and reception are mainly held in the assembly hall, in the foyer and – when special exhibitions are not taking place – in the large exhibition hall Egmont. It also has a beautiful courtyard.

Capacity, reception: 700

Capacity, dinner: 350

7.3 Suggestions for the cultural program

Bohemian Copenhagen – A Walking Tour

When visiting Copenhagen, there is an alternative to the world famous Little Mermaid, which is almost as famous: The Freetown of Christiania, a selfproclaimed autonomous neighbourhood. Christiania was originally an abandoned military compound, which was occupied by squatters, radical artists and intellectuals in 1971. The Freetown is now regarded as a large municipality by the authorities, but the area has a unique status in that it is regulated by a special law.

After visiting this unofficial capital of the hippies, you can stroll through the narrow cobblestoned streets of Christianshavn - Once a working-class neighbourhood, Christianshavn is now a trendy part of the city with its own unique personality where businessmen, artists, yuppies, hippies and traditional families live side-by-side among cool cafes, boutiques, galleries and charming 19th century houses along the picturesque canals.

The 19th Century - Søren Kierkegaard's Copenhagen

From Højbro Plads, the tour goes to the Garden of the Library with the status of Søren Kierkegaard. From here, we walk in Kierkegaard's footsteps in the streets, he walked so often to most of Kierkegaard's residences. We pass the home of his childhood at Nytorv. From here, the tour goes to Skindergade, where he lived until his death, and finally to The Church of Our Lady. We walk along Nørregade, where he lived when he wrote Either/Or. The tour continues to Kultorget, where he lived as a student and where he wrote a review of one of Hans Christian Andersen's novels. We end the tour at another Kierkegaard residence at Rosenborggade.

Copenhagen City Tour with a Guided Visit to Rosenborg Castle and the Crown Jewels

Rosenborg Castle was built by Christian IV as a country summerhouse, and up to 1624 it was developed into a Dutch Renaissance castle. The castle houses the Royal Danish Collections and the Crown Jewels. The castle is located in the middle of the King's Gardens which are the country's oldest royal gardens established in the Renaissance style by Christian IV. The gardens are a popular retreat and are visited by an estimated 2.5 million people per year.

The Crown Jewels date back to Christian VI's Queen, Sophie Magdalene. In her will of 1746, she directed that her jewellery should not become the possession of any one person, but always be at the disposal of the Queen. The Crown Jewels have increased several times, and in their present form date from 1840. The Crown Jewels consist primarily of four large sets of jewellery: two with brilliants, one with emeralds and brilliants, and one with rubies, pearls and brilliants. Also today, the Crown Jewels are at the disposal of HM The Queen, who uses them one or more times a year. This is generally in connection with the New Year levee and in connection with state visits and other events in the Royal House.

Danish Design Tour

Acclaimed by the Wall Paper as being the city of Design, Copenhagen has a lot to show in terms of design. This walking tour will show the best of classic and contemporary Danish design, from teapots and chairs to hotels and supermarkets. The tour will take the participants to design shops and will show them the architectural development in the city of Copenhagen. Architecture

8 Wonderful Copenhagen Convention Bureau

9 Budget

On the next pages, please find attached a budget proposal for hosting the PCE2018 in Copenhagen. The budget has been prepared in close cooperation between IPCOPT and DIS Congress Service.

As we approach 2018, the following arrangements will be organized: Pre-conference workshops, a cultural programme on Thursday afternoon the 5th of July and a social dinner on Saturday evening the 7th of July 2018. The number of participants will be taken into consideration in these arrangements.

9.1 DIS Congress Service

DIS Congress Service A/S is a highly specialised company founded in 1952, specifically to provide conference management services. For 60 years DIS Congress Service has been managing successful events for Danish and international organisations, associations and companies and has been involved in more than 2,600 events throughout the years.

The portfolio of successful, international conferences managed by DIS ranges from ROTARY International Convention in 2006 with more than 15,000 participants, via international conventions for scientific associations to confidential, international/national meetings with just a handful of participants. In 2002 DIS was appointed official accreditation and hotel bureau during the Danish EU presidency. And in 2014 DIS is the official PCO for the Eurovision Song Contest.

Through our membership of IAPCO (International Association of Professional Congress Organizers) and MPI (Meeting Professionals International) we ensure an ongoing update of our knowledge in order to provide the best professional solution for our customers.
